

Changes to the delivery of training

In light of Coronavirus (COVID-19), all face-to-face training days on the Diploma in Residential Surveying and Valuation will be switched to online delivery from Saturday 21 March 2020.

The content of the training days, the timings, and the trainer will all stay the same. The difference is that instead of being delivered at a training venue, the training will be accessed online.

This approach ensures there is no disruption for our learners over the next few months and provides several side benefits, such as being able to access a recording of the online classroom training and watching it again in the future.

We have written to all our learners to outline how this will work. If you are considering starting on the Diploma in the next few months and are likely to be impacted by this, please feel free to contact us on 01908 442158 and we can provide you more detail as to how this will work.

We will return to our usual face-to-face delivery once there is guidance that the Coronavirus (COVID-19) situation is over. We very much appreciate your understanding during this period. We are dedicated to ensuring that all our learners have a fantastic learning experience and that they are not delayed in completing their diploma.
